TEMESGEN MARIE

Mobile and Backend Developer

About Me

As a Computer Science student, I specialize in backend and mobile app development, leveraging strong communication and collaboration skills. With two years of leadership experience as a student union president, I've honed my ability to guide teams effectively. My professional experience as an instructor and developer at Dream More has strengthened my technical expertise in building robust applications. Passionate about innovation, I excel in creating scalable solutions and thrive in dynamic, team-driven environments.
